

ANTI-SEXUAL HARASSMENT POLICY

While all forms of harassment are prohibited, special attention should be paid to sexual harassment. “Sexual harassment” can include all the above actions, as well as other unwelcome conduct, and is generally defined under both state and federal law as unwelcome sexual advances, requests for sexual favors, and other verbal or physical conduct of a sexual nature whereby:

Submission to or rejection of such conduct is made either explicitly or implicitly a term or condition of any individual’s employment or as a basis for employment decisions.

Such conduct has the purpose or effect of unreasonably interfering with an individual’s work performance or creating an intimidating, a hostile, or an offensive work environment.

Other sexually oriented conduct, whether intended or not, that is unwelcome and has the effect of creating a work environment that is hostile, offensive, intimidating, or humiliating to workers may also constitute sexual harassment.

While it is not possible to list all those additional circumstances that may constitute sexual harassment, the following are some examples of conduct that, if unwelcome, may constitute sexual harassment depending on the totality of the circumstances, including the severity of the conduct and its pervasiveness:

- I. Unwanted sexual advances, whether they involve physical touching or not.
- II. Sexual epithets. jokes. written or oral references to sexual conduct. gossip regarding one’s sex life. comments about an individual’s body. and comments about an individual’s sexual activity, deficiencies, or prowess.
- III. Displaying sexually suggestive objects, pictures, or cartoons.
- IV. Unwelcome leering, whistling, brushing up against the body, sexual gestures, or suggestive or insulting comments.
- V. Inquiries into one’s sexual experiences.
- VI. Discussion of one’s sexual activities.

All VaYU employees, Faculty, and Students should take special note that, as stated above, retaliation against an individual who has complained about sexual or other harassment and retaliation against individuals for cooperating with an investigation of sexual or other harassment complaints violate VaYU’s policy.
